invited to be present at this service.

Pie Supper.

Don't fail to attend the Pie Supper at Herrings school house Saturday Oct.
29th, for benefit of Orphans home.

Extremes.

Standpat. Republican members of Congress voted against $15,000 for children's playgrounds and then turned around and voted $12,000 for Speaker Cannon's automobile.

Real Estate Sale.

Hughes & Swinebroad sold for Mrs.
Pattie E. Brown, of Braddock, North Dakota, a dwelling and 3 acres of land in Paint Lick, to H. S. Riddle-berger for $1600. Possession January 1st 1911.

This Is Certain.

Republican voters who sympathize with men like LaFollette and Cum-ins cannot consistently vote for standpat Republicans for Congress, because standpaters believe in Cannonism, and Cannonism is the arch-enemy of LaFollette and Cumins.

Sale of Town Property.

Hughes and Swinebroad sold for R.
S. Brown his handsome residence, on Water Street, to Eld. F. M. Tindler, at $5,000. The public will be glad to learn that Bro. Tindler will remain with us, and that we will not lose Mr.
Brown.

Chumbley.

Mrs. C. M. Chumbley, wife of Rev.
Chumbley who for a number of years was pastor of the Lancaster Presbyterian Church died in Dublin, Ga. on the night of October 20th. She was a lovable woman and made many friends during the time she lived in Lancaster all of whom will regret to hear of her death. She was buried at her old home in Virginia.

Wants a Primary Election

A primary should be called for the purpose of naming a Democratic nominee for the circuit judgeship. The regular election will be held in a year from now and the selection of a nominee for circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney should be gotten through with. The present committee as is well known is committed to the primary method and same should be called at the earliest date possible.
—Danville Advocate.

Intended to Pay.

A bashful young lover walked into the house of his sweetheart bearing a large box with the name of a prominent florist written on the cover.

"How sweet and fresh they are!"
cried the young lady, opening the box.
"I believe there is a little dew on them yet."

"Why—er—yes," admitted the young man in great confusion, "but it's just a little, and I'll pay it tomorrow."
—Success Magazine.

Married in Lexington.

After attending a dance in Lexington Friday night Mr. John Owsley Reid and Miss Francis Cooper were married at the Phoenix Hotel at 1:30 o'clock last Saturday morning. Both parties live in Stanford and are of prominent families. Miss Cooper is the attractive daughter of Mr. G. B.
Cooper, Lincoln's County Clerk and has many friends in Lancaster having visited here often. Mr. Reid is a very popular young man and is considered wealthy.

Well Pleased With Mules.

Mr. J. H. Baughman, of Stanford, was in town Court Day. He had just received a letter from a party in Gatlin Tennessee stating that he was well pleased with the $265 mule sold and with the other seven mules bought at Mr. Baughman's sale. He stated that the mules had won over a thousand dollars worth of premiums in Tennessee and were considered the best at every point they were shown.

Mr. Baughman is delighted that his customer is well pleased and with the fact that Kentucky stock can win in Tennessee or any other old State.

Speaks To A Large Crowd.

Hon. Harvey Helm, democratic candidate for Congress from this district was in town Court Day and delivered a splendid address to the voters of this County in which he urged them to be on hand at the poles on Nov. 8th and cast their vote. He stated that this is the most important election that has been held for many years as the democrats are trying to hold the upper hand in Congress and stand a good chance so to do if they will stand together.

Don't fail to come out now for this is a duty you owe to yourself as well as your fellow citizens.

Work Of Our Washington Correspondent Is Recognized.

Clyde H. Tavenner, who has been acting as Washington correspondent for the Central Record, has been nominated for Congress by the Democrats of the Fourteenth Illinois Congressional district.

The nomination was given Taven-ner in recognition of his vigorous espousal of the cause of the people.

As a newspaper man Tavenner exposed the work of the lobbies in Washington, he protested against Cannonism, extravagance and all legislation designed to increase the cost of living.
As a member of Congress he would a the same thing.

Sunday School House Dedicated

The new Sunday school house near Hyattsville was dedicated last Sunday afternoon. Elder F. M. Tindler conducted the services and gave a splendid talk. People from all parts of the Hyattsville section gathered to this little house to hear the first word of God to be taught in the new Sunday School room, and every one there felt interested in its welfare and the good that is sure to come by reason of the building of this little house. They also felt proud of the fact that it was paid for and without much effort for every one was anxious to have the building therefore it was easy to raise the necessary funds to pay all debts.

We congratulate these people and believe that God will surely reward them for their good work.

Out Under $200. Bond.

Charley Humber who is charged with shooting Jim Jones (col.) near the Traylor's distillery was arrested last week by Sheriff Ballard, of this county, and landed in jail at Stanford, as the shooting took place in Lincoln county. The charge against him is shooting and wounding with intent to kill. Sheriff Ballard and his deputies of this county laid out all night to catch Humber and caught him about daylight last Thursday morning. The County Judge of Lincoln county fixed his bail for only $200. and Mr. James I.
Hamilton of this county went his bond.

Alvin Thomas who is alleged to have been implicated in the affair has not yet been captured, however, our good sheriff and his deputies have not given up hopes.

Central vs. Tulane.

In a game of foot-ball played in Danville Wednesday afternoon Central won over Tulane University of New Orleans by a score of 31 to 0. Central has won every game this season.

Married at Hartford.

Miss Zella Zimone of this place and Mr. Charles E. Stanford, of St. Paul, Minn., were married at Hartford, Ky., last Thursday evening. The bride is a very attractive young woman and has many friends here who congratulate the groom upon the winning of such a popular young lady. She is a daughter of Mr. West Zanone one of our City Council men and leading public spirited men.

The young couple left Sunday for the South where they will spend the winter.

Good Tobacco Prices.

The first sale of the 1910 crop of tobacco at the Danville warehouses Saturday afternoon, the average price received was 14 cents per pound and the American Tobacco Company was the leading buyer although numerous independent buyers were in the market the bidding was spirited.
The highest price received was 18 cents a pound and the lowest was 8 cents. All of the tobacco that was offered was of a much inferior grade to the average crops grown last year.

Five thousand pounds were sold at the Danville house-leaf house, and about the same amount at the Peoples house.

Popular Young Couple Marry

On Wednesday evening at eight o'clock Miss Mary Davis and Mr. Will Bill were united in wedlocks holy bonds at the home of the bride on Danville street by Rev. O. P. Bush.
The wedding did not come as a surprise as this is a love affair of several years. Only a few relatives and friends were present. The bride is the daughter of Mr. W. C. Davis of this place and is a very pretty young lady. The groom is in the grocery business in this city and is a very deserving young man and has friends all over the county who will congratulate him upon his good fortune in winning such a wife.
They are at home to their many friends at the home of the groom on Richmond street. The Record extends best wishes and congratulations.

Wastefulness of Protection.

The wastefulness of taxes collected from the people under the tariff laws is not one of the least vicious features of protection.

American customs duties have necessitated a gigantic army of officials, have increased the price of everything and have added enormously to the expenses of the government.

The country is divided into 160 districts and ports for the collection of duties. Of these the expenses in forty are greater than the receipts, the cost of collection ranging, for every dollar collected, from $1.58 to $309.41.

In the Alexandria, Va., district, the government spent $1,224 to collect $10.

In the Annapolis, Md., district, it cost $956 to collect $3.09.

In the St. Mary's, Ga., district, it cost $693 to collect $15.25.

In the Coos Bay, Ore., district, it cost $1,464 to collect $79.81.

And this year's report of the secretary of the treasury is not as bad as last year's, which showed that in one instance the government had paid two men $1,100 to collect 60 cents.

Sudduth-Thurmond.

Louis O. Thurmond and Miss Martha Ellen Sudduth were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Smith in Hamilton, Ohio, last Tuesday evening. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. F. W. Evans of the Universalist church. As the bride and groom are both popular and are an unusually attractive couple, there were many people present. The bride's maid was Miss Emma Ends and the witnesses were, Mrs. Milton Smith and Mrs. William Ends. Both bride and groom formerly resided in Lancaster, the bride having moved to Hamilton only a short time ago. The happy couple left for Anderson Ind., where they will make their future home. The groom just returned from a three-year service in the army, but has now accepted a position in Anderson as manager of his uncle's store.

ANNOUNCEMENTS For Circuit Judge

We are authorized to announce Hon Charles A. Hardin a candidate for trict, at the November election, 1911, subject to the action of the Democratic party.

Automobiles and Health.

A New York physician expresses the opinion that automobile riding has distinct advantages as a health promoting amusement. It has been proved, he says, "of decided benefit to sufferers from pulmonary, throat and ear diseases when indulged in under proper safeguards and in conditions dictated by ordinary prudence." Cardiac ailments also are likely to be relieved. "The fresh air, moderate exercise, gentle stimulation of the circulation and mental diversion having an excellent curative influence."

The physician notes some disadvantages, such as the danger of inhaling impurities. This would be avoided, he says, if roads were kept free of dirt and dust. The heavy atmospheric pressure induced by fast running would not be beneficial to impaired lungs or, if long continued, to healthy lungs. When it has been found that motoring is distinctly advantageous to sufferers from sub-acute and chronic catarrhal conditions "the use of the automobile by tuberculosis subjects whose temperature is above normal is interdicted."

The substance of the physician's advice says the Courier Journal, appears to be that the man who is fortunate enough to possess an automobile and who is sensible enough to use it sanely may profit in health as well as in pleasure. However, unless there is a recovery from the speed mania which seems to have taken possession of the country, the automobile is more likely to be classed as a coadjutor with war, famine and pestilence in the decimation of the human race.

In our next issue we will print the names of all the children who are on the honor roll at school and we would be glad to see the name of every child in Lancaster on the list. If your child's name fails to appear the parents may blame themselves to a great extent for you should have made your child study at home for when they do this and do it well it is a hard matter to keep their names off the honor roll.

The Danville Messenger has been boosting Hon. Henry Jackson of Danville for Circuit Judge to oppose Hon.
Chas. A. Hardin for the nomination.
Mr. Jackson is one of the best lawyers in Danville and would make a good Judge, however, he has never said that he even wanted the place. So far Mr. Hardin has a clear field and Mr. Jackson is the only man mentioned to oppose him for the nomination.

The recent term of the Circuit Court cost the State and county less than one-half of the usual amount.
It is astonishing how much can be done in a short while if the powers that be are disposed to work diligently. Judge Walker has set an example that should be followed by every Judge in the State.—Kentucky Republican.

Logan's sale has been a success and many of our people have found bargains and are pleased with their purchases. We call attention to their large advertisement in this issue of the paper and ask that our subscribers read it and see if it is not worth your time.

A Georgetown man breaks the record for making wills. All the married women would be pleased to have their husbands make the same kind of a will for it only says, "I hereby bequeath all of my property to my wife," and then he signed his name.

both white and colored, for their tender words of sympathy, in the hours

The Ten Cent Oleomargarine Tax.

Why did the Congress of the United States enact the present oleomargarine law which provides for an internal revenue tax of ten cents per pound on artificially colored oleomargarine? Was it to permit the butter producers of the country to exact a high price for butter as has been claimed? To make such a claim is a pretty serious indictment of our federal law making body.
Of course butter is higher in price than it was ten years ago but so are other necessities of life. The percentage of oleomargarine now being put upon the market bears a higher ratio to the amount of butter consumed than it did ten years ago. This coupled with the fact that less than three per cent of the oleomargarine sold is taxed at ten cents per pound proves that the oleomargarine law has absolutely nothing to do with the price of butter.

Congress enacted this law to prevent fraud in the sale of oleomargarine.
The law was never intended to prevent the honest sale of oleomargarine or to enhance the interests of the butter producers of the country, but rather to protect the one against fraud in the purchase of butter or oleomargarine and the other against fraudulent competition.

Congress intended to compel the sale of oleomargarine in its natural color (which is white or nearly so) instead of in the natural color of butter (which is yellow). Congress at the same time reduced the former tax of two cents per pound on oleomargarine to one-fourth of a cent per pound when the product is not artificially colored to look like butter.

Congress used its taxing power to prevent fraud in the sale of oleomargarine because it had no other effective means of accomplishing that result. When oleomargarine is put upon the market in its natural color thus making it impossible to commit fraud, the tax is one and three-fourths cents less per pound than under any previous oleomargarine law.

The butter producers of the country are benefitted by oleomargarine legislation only in so far as the integrity of the dairy industry is sustained—a benefit which is shared by every other citizen. It is a most important branch of agriculture and it is quite essential to prevent the destruction of an agricultural industry by fraud as it is to prevent the destruction of our banking industry or any of the other industries in which every citizen is interested.

A Smile.

If there is rain when you desire sunshine, don't "cuss" the weather for you can't change it, and you will feel better if you accept the inevitable—smile.

If things go wrong at home or office you will not make them smoother by venting futile indignation and working yourself up into a fruitless rage—smile.

If you have a trying day in business, don't go home with your troubles clouding your countenance and sour-ing your disposition, because that will only make your loved ones suffer because of your ill fortune—smile.

Have a smile for every condition of affairs. Smile at your work as you smile at your play. As the poet has it:

Smile awhile;
And while you smile another smiles, And soon there's miles and miles of smiles,
And life's worth living while you smile.

Going Up.

Prices are still going up. As a result of the upward revision of the entire cotton schedule in the Payne-Aldrich law, the prices of women's and children's dress goods have increased considerably.

The John V. Farwell Company says in a review of the wholesale dry goods trade that still more advances may be expected.
The review declares that "almost all manufacturing agents are advancing prices on staple manufactured cottons. As it looks now prices will continue to grow firmer and higher in staple cotton goods."

Mutilated His Manuscript.

An editor was sitting in his office one day when a man entered whose brow was clothed with thunder.

"Are you the editor?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Read that, then," he said thrusting at the editor an envelope with an inscription on it.

"B—" said the editor, trying to spell it.

"That's not a 'B,' it's an 'S,' said the man.

"S?" Oh, yes, I see. Well it looks like 'Sal for Dinner,' or 'Souls for Sinners,' said the editor.

"No, sir," replied the man; nothing of the sort. That's my name—Samuel Skinner, I knew you couldn't read. I called to see about that poem of mine you printed the other day, entitled 'The Success of Sorrow.'

"I don't remember it," said the editor.

"Of course you don't because it, went into the paper under the villanous title of 'Smease Tomorrow.'"

"A blunder of the compositor, I suppose."

"Yes, sir, and that is what I am here to see you about. The way in which that poem was mutilated was simply scandalous. I haven't slept a night since. It exposed me to derision.
People think me a fool. (The editor coughed.) Let me show you. This first line, when I wrote it, read in this way. Lying by a weeping willow, underneath a gentle slope. That is beautiful and poetic. Now, how did your vile sheet represent it to the public? Lying to a weeping widow, I induced her to elope. Weeping widow, mind you! A widow! Oh thunder and lightning! This is too much!"

"It's hard sir, very hard," said the editor.

"Then take the fifth verse. In the original manuscript it said, plain as daylight: 'Take away the jingling money; it is only glittering dross. In its printed form you make me say:
'Take away the tinkling honey; put some flies in for the boss. By George!
I feel like attacking somebody with your fire shovel! I fancy I have a right to murder that compositor. Where is he?"

"He is out just now," said the editor. "Come in to-morrow."

"I will," said the poet, "and I will come armed."—British and Colonial Printer and Stationer.

And then the people wonder that editors as a rule are short-lived.

FAIR EXCHANGE

A New Back For an Old One—How it is Done in Lancaster.

The back aches sometimes with a dull, indescribable feeling, making you weary and restless; piercing pains shoot across the region of the kidneys, and again the loins are so lame that to stoop is agony. No use to rub or to apply a plaster to the back in this condition. You cannot reach the cause. Exchange the bad back for a new and stronger one. Follow the example of this Lancaster citizen—

Mrs. T. S. Ellis, New Danville Pike, Lancaster, Ky., says, "I feel grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills in return for benefit they have brought in my family. My back was very lame and there was a constant pain at the base of my spine. Doan's Kidney Pills went at once to the root of my trouble and entirely relieved me. Another member of my family was bothered by attacks of lumbago and at times this person's back was so weak and lame that walking was difficult. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief in this case just as quick ly as they did in mine. I have not the slightest hesitation in recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, as I know they live up to all the claims made for them."

Last Monday morning Oct. 24th, at 8:30 o'clock, there was a reaper who's name was death visited our community and took from us Voyle Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ray, he was a young man and a twin brother of Vella Ray. They were 19 years old a few days before he died, both were members of the Baptist church. He had been a constant but patient sufferer of tuberculosis for a few months. Just a few days before he died he called for Mr. Maurice Calico to talk and pray for him for he knew he was a true christian and was worthy to pray as he stated he was the happiest boy he ever saw and he believed he was ready to meet his savior. We feel sure he has gone on to meet Bessie and Lillian who have shortly gone on before. Death is a beautiful thing when we know they are on the saviors side. The remains were laid to rest in Buckeye Cemetery. We thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us in that dark hour of sorrow. A Sister.

75 acres of land midway between Bryantville and Buena Vista. About two miles from each place. This land was a sugar maple grove and had never been cultivated until I raised four crops of fine hemp and then wheat with only two crops of corn which were extremely good. There is never failing stock water, the land is level and would make a nice little farm when improved. Mr. Ide Shero who has here before attended to the land has bought a farm in Jessamine County and I am anxious to sell. Address H. B. "No Exceptions"

By Lawrence Alfred Clay

(Copyright, 1911, by Associated Literary Press.)

Mr. Guy Flemming, civil engineer, was passing a couple of weeks at the village of Colville. That meant that he was fishing. That didn't mean that he was catching any fish, because the month was August, and a fish that will bite in August is not worth the carrying home.

A mile outside the village was the Prim school for young ladies—Miss Janet Prim principal, proprietor and all that.

As the school buildings were situated on the banks of the same river in which Mr. Flemming was vainly fishing for fish, a suspicious person like Miss Prim must see through his duplicity sooner or later. He was gradually approaching the school grounds as he fished, and the day would come when he would venture to climb the wall and address one of the dozen damsels remaining there through the summer vacation. Miss Prim did see, and she called up Miss Fanny Livingston, one of her assistants, and solemnly said:

"Miss Livingston, there's a man around. That is, there is a strange man gradually approaching this place along the river bank. He has come a little nearer every day for the past week."

"Is the constable to be notified, ma'am?" was asked.

"Only as a last resort. Under your care the young ladies are to visit Maple Grove tomorrow. The grove is on the river. Should that man be fishing in the vicinity and dare to approach you and the young ladies he must be emphatically repulsed—em-ph-a-t-i-c-a-l-l-y repulsed, Miss Livingston. I trust that you understand me?"

"Yes'm."

The next day Mr. Flemming went fishing down the river. He had hit-

He was startled by a cry for help. He fished up the stream. He knew nothing whatever of the cause of the cry on the part of the young ladies, but the voice of Fate called to him. He had been in the grove for a couple of hours, and he had almost had two bites on his hook, when the grove was invaded. He heard song and laughter, and he soon reasoned out who his callers were.

It was very proper of Mr. Flemming to sit there and fish and fish and not go crying. By skulking through the brush a hundred feet or so he could have come upon the happy band in a deli, but he didn't skulk. He sat there and bobbed his line up and down and watched the bubbles and the froth.

More than an hour had gone by when Mr. Flemming heard the rumble of thunder, and looked up to see the sky darkening. There was going to be a thunderstorm. He heard exclamations and ejaculations from the young ladies and knew they were preparing to take shelter in a farmhouse a quarter of a mile away. He didn't propose to get wet, but he had noted a great sycamore tree with a hollow trunk that would give him shelter.

The voices of a dozen running, harum-scarum girls had died away in the distance, and Mr. Flemming had laid down his fishing pole, when he was startled by a cry for help. It was near at hand. It was the voice of a woman. The fisherman made a rush of fifty feet to confront a young woman whose foot had been caught in a root as she started to flee with the others. She was hanging to the limb of a tree and twisting her foot, but the heel was jammed fast.

It was Miss Livingston. There she was, held prisoner by her foot, a soaking old thunderstorm coming along, and the man she had been commanded to repulse—emphatically repulse—standing before her, and the only person on earth she could ask for assistance. If she emphatically repulsed him—

"I see the trouble and I beg pardon," said Mr. Flemming after an instant, and he dropped on his knees, seized the foot and wrenched it clear. Then the lightning came, and Miss Livingston screamed. Then the first big drops of rain were heard on the leaves overhead, and the poor young woman looked at the fisherman with tears in her eyes and moaned:

"What shall I do—what shall I do?"

Curious to know. It may be, as the preachers say, From heaven baseball they will not bar, But how the mischief can they play The game where no ballplayers are?

The Sad Truth. "Economy," remarked the moralizer, "is the source of wealth." "That's right," rejoined the demoralizer. "By denying one's self all the luxuries of life it is possible to save up enough money to provide them in liberal quantities for some one else."

WHEN PA IS LATE.

When pa is late there's nothing right. The home turns upside down. The wife becomes a queen. And mirth gives way to mornment. The youngsters cease their play. And time then drags most heavily When pa remains away.

The dishes have an empty look. The dining-room seems bare. Ma thinks the food will surely spoil. That she had cooked with care. Besides a visitor patiently. She watches for his smile. 'Till he comes her loving heart Is aching all the while.

But when her visit is repaid. There comes a sudden change: Pa waves his hand, and disappears. And from the kitchen range She deftly takes things heating hot; The youngsters will once more. And once is banished by the host Pa gives her at the door.

—Columbian.

A Necessary Preliminary. "I would like to go to one of these palaces who pretend to foretell the future and fool him." "You couldn't do it. He would soon find out your game." "How could he?" "Well, he could make you show your hand."

MORNING CONVERSATION.

The Montague—I'm glad you came. I have been nearly worked to death. The Fly—Well, you can get a good rest now. I'll take care of him till he gets ready to get up.

Distinction. When you go to all the well begin your career by going to school. It's "graduation" if you win. And "farming" if you lose.
